TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 15, 1862.

The "Morning Glory."

Rich and Fine—Better than the Trout and Potatoe Story—Scene on the river and in and about Vancouver.

We learn that our neighboring city, Vancouver, has been for a few days in a terrible state of excitement. A month or more since a little club of secesh took it into their heads that they would monopolize all the offices of Clarke county, to be filled at the Territorial election in Washington Territory. After sundry caucusses a convention was agreed on, called, and the secesh managed it as best suited them. The nominations were made, and with the exception of one or two, they were made of such men as would throw up their hats for Jeff. Davis. These men did not realize the fact that the quiet, mind-your own-business men about there, were loyal to the Government and Union, and that a book of remembrance had been prepared in which the treasonable sentiments of the squad nominated were recorded. As the election approached, there seemed to be an uprising among the good citizens, who thought it would be very wrong on their part to permit the election of the secesh named without making earnest efforts to defeat them. Hence, the "VANCOUVER REVEALER," a campaign paper, was started, which laid before the people the political character of the secesh candidates, and the necessity, on the part of good citizens, to check them in their aspirations. That paper contained explicit charges against the loyalty of the secesh candidates, and the pledge that these charges should be sustained, if denied; the fact being well known in Vancouver that they could be proved by the evidence of some of her best citizens. The secesh club cut up considerably on the appearance of the paper, and they had good reason to do so, for it most effectually disposed of all their claims to support from loyal citizens, lovers of the Union and Government.

What was to be done? The secesh sent over to Portland two of the smartest of their young men to get up a publication in reply to the VANCOUVER REVEALER, and they were called upon to do their best to make it effective. It is said that the couple worked two days, day and night, to write up the quantity of stuff to fill their sheet. They sweat and groaned over their work. They threw themselves into attitudes of indignation, most heroic, patriotic martyrs, simpletons, blackguards, and in every other conceivable form; and finally, on Saturday evening, Struve and Lawrence took their bundles of the VANCOUVER MORNING GLORY, and in proud triumph, marched on board the Vancouver, with their valuable, wonderful paper, "big with the fate of Ceasar and of Rome."

There were two good Union men passenger on board of the Vancouver, who as might have been expected, were anxious to see the petard which was to blow up all the Unionists of Vancouver and its surroundings, Major Francis, Mr. Hill, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Brown, and not the least, the excellent post-mistress of Vancouver.

Our readers must hold their breaths—for we must digress in our narration. Struve is Express Agent at Vancouver, and saving his "sympathies for the South," is a very clever one too. His safe at Vancouver had been pronounced unsafe, and, with getting up the MORNING GLORY, he had added another job—that of getting a new safe. He had got one; it was on board the Vancouver; it was opened; the coveted MORNING GLORY's were lying on its capacious shelves—Struve said 600 copies—and Struve and Lawrence were there to guard them. They let our two Union men look at them—but they must not touch them, oh no! there the MORNING GLORYS must remain until they should be distributed by safe hands about Vancouver—that the terrible explosion they were to produce should be simultaneous, and Mr. Brown, Maj. Francis, Mr. Turnbull, Mr. Biles, Mr. Hill, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. McConnell, and Mrs. Cochran, (the excellent post-mistress aforesaid) and all other good Union people of Vancouver should be blown up together, and like a certain other great explosion anticipated, "leave not a wreck behind."

ment would not have occurred. We wish its gentlemanly conductors still greater prosperity.

One of our Union men thought it cruel that he was thus to be deprived of the examination of the infernal machine, (we called it a petard before—but Struve and Lawrence believed it to be an infernal machine, and for this time we will let them have their way,) seized two copies and ran!—Struve and Lawrence after him—the Union man saved his copies—when the Morning Glory men beat a retreat back to the safe, apprehensive that a worse misfortune would befall them.

"O, horridabella!"—the jar of the boat had closed the safe. It had a spring lock—a combination lock—the directions for opening the safe were in the safe and it was fast!

Struve and Lawrence went to work to open the safe and reach its treasures. The lock would not open. The safe could not be opened. "D—n!"—there was no such thing as opening that safe. Powder enough could not be got into the key hole to blow open the door. No chance to open it until information could be sent to New York to the maker, and a new set of directions obtained!! Wasn't there some tall swearing just about that time" —we think so

The steamer arrived safe at Vancouver, and the safe was safely deposited in the Express office, and it safely enclosed the 500 Morning Glorys.

"Give us a copy of the Morning Glory," said anxious expectants. "There they are," said Struve, in bitter irony, "in that safe—help yourselves, gentlemen!"

And of all the five hundred Morning Glorys, only two had seen the light. These two were in the hands of two Union men who, with their friends, perused them with great satisfaction.

"On the whole," said Struve, "the Morning Glory is a failure. I think they will do more good to lay safe in the safe till I get a new set of directions from New York to open the safe, than they would if scattered over Vancouver!"

At ten o'clock on Saturday night, a gathering of political doctors met in consultation over the safe—albeit that they might invent some process by which to deliver the safe of the precious Morning Glorys which rested quietly in its capacious bosom.

The effort was vain;—their was the safe and in it were the Morning Glorys. The consultation ended, Mr. Struve closed the obsequies by singing the following in the tune of Cock Robin:

Oh, who would retell the fatal story
The life and death of Morning Glory.
It open'd its eyes all bright and fair,
But never breathed of mortal air,
Oh, who would retell the fatal story,
The life and death of Mornig Glory

How quick have sped my airy dreams!
How failed at once have all my schemes!
Oh, I hate that sad, that fatal story
The life and death of Morning Glory.
Oh, I hate that wretched story.
The life and death of Morning Glory.

Letter from Elk City.

ELK CITY, W. T., July 6, 1862.

Two mass political conventions were held in this city last Sunday—Union and Secesh—to nominate candidates for county officers. The Union convention nominated for Joint Councilman—Nez Perce and Idaho counties—Judge Gilmore Hays, formerly of Olympia, now a resident of Lewiston; and for Representative for Nez Perce county, Col. S. J. Beck, late of Thurston county. Col. B. addressed the convention at length, on the great questions of the day. The Secesh convention nominated for Joint Councilman, Col. John W. Parks, who was once Representative and Sargeant-at-Arms in the Washington Legislature from Walla Walla county: for Representative. William Denniston, a Californian. The Secesh convention was slimly attended, being composed principally of Californians and "Web-feet," who have not been in the Territory long enough to vote. Judge Hays and Col. Beck will be elected by large majorities.

Thos. Austin, from Placer Co., California, accidentally shot himself with a rifle in the thigh on Sunday evening last, completely shattering the bone, and making a terrible wound. He declined to have his leg amputated, preferring death, as he was here without money or friends. He died on Friday night

The "glorious Fourth" passed off without any particular demonstration in this city. A number of companies of prospecters—one hundred—met at the Meadows, on Red river, twenty miles from this city, on the 4th. Hon. Columbia Lancaster was among the number. A meeting was held in the morning, and a resolution unanimously passed, requesting Judge Lancaster to deliver an oration in the afternoon, which was accepted.

Judge Lancaster is one among a number of "victims" who, for three weeks, have been following a man named Terwillager, from Portland, who professed to know the whereabouts of very rich diggings. The company are now satisfied that they have been greatly deceived. Some of the men are much exasperated, and talk of hanging Terwillager unless he leads them soon to the promised rich diggings. Terwiliager has become much alarmed, and tries to get away from the company.

Hon. John W. Cannady, of Walla Walla, came in here on Thursday, for provisions.—He has been out some three weeks, in the mountains prospecting. His company intend to continue the search one month longer. Before leaving Florence they were informed by Leland, of the Times, that very rich diggings had been found in the direction of this city; that 40 men were at work in them; that the trail was plain; and gave them minute directions as to the slope of mountains and other land-marks which would guide them to the desired place. The company followed the course and directions given, but could not find Leland's "rich diggings." The company have come to the conclusion that L. is a "little joker."

But very little gold is being taken out in this locality at present. There is too much water in the rivers yet for successful mining, and not enough in the gulches. Ditches are being cut to lead water into the best paying gulches. The mining season for the rivers, will be very short for miners who do not intend to winter here.

Very many men are leaving here every day for their homes, and to seek their fortunes elsewhere. The present high prices of provisions are driving many away who would otherwise remain. Fifty cents per pound is now demanded for flour, and the same for bacon, beans, tea, coffee, sugar, &c

RAMBLER,

ENLARGED.—We notice that the Washington Statesman has been considerably enlarged, and now presents the appearance of a first-class newspaper on this coast It is ably conducted, and we doubt not duly appreciated by its numerous patrons—else the enlarge-

LATER FROM THE EAST.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

VICKSBURG OURS.

BATTLES AT RICHMOND.

SACRAMENTO, July 10th, via YREKA.

FORT MONROE, July 1.—Gunboats have just arrived from the scene of action yesterday, 18 miles above City Point—that division of our army that has been fighting four days has retreated 17 miles. The fight yesterday was most terrific, the enemy having two or three to our one. The battle commenced with the land forces, and after four hours fighting the gunboats got in range and poured into the rebels a heavy and incessant fire, which they stood for two hours and then retreated. Our troops captured, notwithstanding their disadvantages, a large number of pieces of artillery and 2,000 prisoners, including the rebel General Magruder. This action took place near Turkey Creek.

The enemy lost everything, retreating in great disorder. Their loss is much greater than ours. In the retreat McClellan had to spike his guns and leave them on the field, the nature of the ground rendering it impossible to move them.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The following account of the battles of June 29th, 30th, and July 1st has been received. Sunday morning the corps of Sumner and Franklin were left in the woods at Fair Oaks with instructions to evacuate and protect the supply trains to James river. They had hardly left their position and were falling back on the railroad, when the rebels discovered their movement and started in pursuit with their whole force

So rapidly did they approach that our officers had barely time to place their men in position to receive them before the enemy were upon them. The enemy advanced to the attack at two o'clock and the battle lasted until dark, during which the enemy suffered terribly, advancing in a solid mass until within a short distance of our artillery. The effect of our arms was fearful, killing and wounding the rebels by hundreds. At dusk the enemy being repulsed, were forced to abandon their position. The battle took place about one mile from Savage Station.

The railroad bridge across the Chickahominy was burned and a train of 12 cars under full head of steam ran overboard. All the stores that could not be moved were committed to the flames. A large house at the Station was filled with sick and wounded, whom it was impossible to get away. 700 are now in the hands of the enemy. Early Monday morning the enemy came up boldly, being reinforced. About three o'clock it was thought that some portion of our lines must give way, as the rebels were constantly throwing fresh troops into action. Our troops in front of the bridge now fell back within three miles of Turkey Island, where the fight was renewed with the greatest determination on both sides.

The greater portion of the transportation safely crossed Turkey Island bridge. The fight was renewed early on Tuesday, by the rebels—they evidently intending to crush our army. It lasted three hours with considerable loss on both sides, when the enemy retreated leaving the field in possession of our troops. The rebels again advanced at about 3 P. M., in considerable numbers, and retired after being shelled by the gunboats and artillery for two hours. The loss of our army during these several engagements is not known, but is estimated at 20,000. The enemy's loss in killed must far exceed ours. We have taken 700 prisoners, among whom are three lieutenants and one major. The reported capture of Magruder is probably a mistake. The loss of the field artillery is probably thirty pieces in the seven days. Gen. Reynolds and Capt. Kingsbury of his staff were taken prisoners, also Gen. Meade, of Penn. and Col Stockton, of Michigan. Gens. Sumner and Heintzelman were both wounded, but neither of them left the field. Gen. McCall was seen to fall from his horse, and was taken prisoner.

Gen. Joseyln of Penn. was killed.

Capt. Campbell of the 5th regular cava'ry was killed.

We have encamped on high rolling ground on the banks of the James river, fifteen miles from Richmond, and the transports are already unloading supplies. The commanding general feels confident of successfully meeting any attack the enemy make on his present position. The reinforcements the enemy received from Beauregard and Jackson, gave them a united force double that of the Army of the Potomac. Many prisoners belonging to Beauregard's army are taken.

The Richmond Examiner of July 4th gives the following relative to the battle of Monday:

"Sunday morning, June 29th, General Hill and Longstreet, with their divisions, crossed the Chickahominy, and late on Monday morning attacked the enemy five miles northeast of Fort Darling on the New Market road. The conflict was terrible, and by 8.30 a. m., the enemy was driven back a mile and a half. At 9.30 a. m., the enemy being heavily reinforced, made another stand, where the loss on the Confederate side was terrible. Our situation being hopeless against such overwhelming odds, Gen. Hill steadily retreated."

The Richmond Republican thinks that the Confederate divisions which went into the fight on Friday, 14,000 strong, could muster only 6,000 men for duty yesterday.

The loss of life outnumbers any battle or series of battles ever fought.

The latest dispatches from McClellan state that there has been no fighting since Tuesday, July 1st.

Gen. Dix is reported to have arrived at Fortress Monroe, with 530 persons, being a part of those captured at the late battles, among whom are several Colonels and Majors.

City Point was burned on the 3d, destroying a shelter for sharp-shooters.

James River is filled transports.

Over 20 gunboats are in the vicinity of Harrison's Landing.

Rebel prisoners state their loss at 30,000, while ours cannot exceed 10,000. The rebels had 200 000 men engaged.

CAIRO, July 7.—News from Vicksburg, June 26th, states that Porter's fleet commenced to shell the upper batteries below town. This continued all day without any result, and the firing was renewed on Friday, being directed on the town, over which shells were seen to burst.

The city must have been greatly damaged, fires were seen in various parts. We are informed by indisputable authority that 5,000 negroes had been ordered by Gen Butler to open a canal across the bend in which Vicksburg, or its remains is situated.

The channel of the Mississippi will soon make it an inland town.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 2.—Col Smith's command of 2,000 men, connected with the Reserve Cavalry, has arrived here. This command, with 1,500 infantry and flying artillery under Stoneman, were attending the removal of Government property from West Point. They left there retreating to Williamsburg, thence to Yorktown, and thence to the transports. Prisoners represent the loss of the rebels as most terrible. They admit a loss of 10,000. The rebels were defeated at every point.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The battle of Tuesday lasted from 5 A. M. to 9 P. M. We took 24 guns from the rebels.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Vicksburg is ours. No particulars.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

SUPREME COURT.—Monday, July 14, 1862. Present—R. P. Boise, Chief Justice; P. P. [illegible] and W. W. Page, Associate Justices; J. G. Wilson, Clerk—Attorneys present—W. Strong, J. S. Smith, L. F. Grover, J. H. Mitchell, E. D. Shattuck, D. Logan, E. W. McGraw, A. Holbrook, J. J. Hoffman, G. W. Williams, B. F. Dow[illegible] Kelsay, L. F. [illegible] R. Mallory, [illegible]nham, Wm. T. Walker. Messrs. Welcker and Mallory were admitted as Attorneys. Messrs. Holbrook, Shattuck, and Dowell were appointed as the committee for the examination of applicants for admission during this term. Justice Stratton is expected to-morrow.

EXAMINATION AT THE PORTLTND ACADEMY AND FEMALE SEMINARY.—The Annual Examination of the students of this Institution will commence to-day, and continue to-morrow and Thursday—the Preparatory Department to-day, and the Academic classes on Wednesday and Thursday. Rev. T. H. Pearne, Hon. L. F. Grover, Rev. C. S. Kingsley, Rev. P. S. [illegible]frey, Rev. I. Dillon and Judge E. D. Shattuck are the Examining Committee. Hon. J. G. Wilson will deliver the address to the Seminary at the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, at 7½ o'clock. Exercises in connection with the Graduating Class, on Thursday evening at 7½ o'clock. The Re-union will take place at the Seminary on Friday evening. Congratulatory Essay by Miss S. A. [illegible]Lell. We have every reason to believe that this Examination will prove highly interesting, and we would urge upon all who desire to encourage education to attend, and more especially, the parents of the scholars attending the school, should go and witness the advancement made, and encourage by their presence every commendable effort on the part of the pupils.

MORE DUST.—The Julia arrived last night from the Dalles, bringing down 250 pounds of gold dust per Wells, Fargo & Co., and nearly double that amount in the hands of passengers, of whom there was about 175. We are indebted to Wells, Fargo & Co. for a late number of the Walla Walla Statesman, and other favors.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.—We are informed by Director Shaw, that the Public School in this city will be opened again on Monday next, in charge of Mr. Frambes and lady, as before.

[illegible] BAKERY.—Sharff & Clapp have opened a new bakery on the corner of First and Taylor streets. Read their advertisement.

SELECT SCHOOL.—Misses Cornell and Breyman re-open their very popular school on the [illegible] inst. For terms see advertisement.

STEAMERS AT FORT BENTON.—The Walla Walla Statesman announces by letter from [illegible] Mullan that four steamers have arrived at Benton from St. Louis, bringing three hundred and fifty passengers. Also that new and rich gold mines had been discovered in Bitter Root and Big Hole valleys. A regular line of steamers have been established from St. Louis to Fort Benton, and a line of [illegible] from the latter place to the Bitter Root valley.

[illegible]ED.—The Los Angeles telegraphic dispatches to the Sacramento Union of the [illegible] state that Captain Fritz of our troops at [illegible], Arizona, had surprised and captured [illegible] of twenty-one rebels at the Patagonia [illegible] mines. Among the prisoners was [illegible] Mowry, well known for his former connection with the Boundary Commission [illegible] having endeavored to get into Congress as a delegate from Arizona. The prisoner is charged with [illegible]ng furnished supplies to the enemy.

[illegible]ATION OF COL. CORNELIUS.—It is stated Colonel Cornelius has resigned his appointment as Colonel of the Oregon Regiment of Cavalry. We regret this, as Colonel Cornelius, in raising the regiment, and in bringing it so far, generally, without orders from superiors, has shown himself eminently qualified for his duty. He only accepted the [illegible] to prevent delay in the raising and organization of the regiment. These things having been accomplished, he gladly retires to his extensive farm in Washington county, where his personal attention is needed for its [illegible]

[illegible]ION TO EMIGRANTS.—We hear that [illegible] adequate arrangements will be made to meet the emigrants on the Snake river from Indians the present season. Three companies of Oregon cavalry will soon be on the way to the Salmon Falls of Snake river. [illegible] they will succeed in obtaining the [illegible] of the emigrants in the fall of 1860.

[illegible] SECESH EMEUTE AT VANCOUVER.—[illegible] Sunday two secesh went into Miller's [illegible] called for liquor. Mr. Miller replied that he would not sell liquor on Sunday. [illegible] then "pitched into him," and beat [illegible] their satisfaction. The City Marshal [illegible] the rascals.

[illegible] from the election in Vancouver [illegible] hed us yet; but we have confidence the Union ticket has been successful in [illegible]ty, while the Dixeites' "nose-gays" [illegible] probably stink worse than ever before [illegible] deposite" can be broken up.

From the Oregon Farmer

Fruit Trade Report.

In compliance with your request to furnish you with statistics of the fruit trade during the earlier years of the business, I regret that we are able only to give a very meagre account. Our connection with the business dates back only to 1856, and those who could give the desired information have gone out of the business and left the city. We kept no record of the trade further than our own transactions, till 18 8.

The first grafted or cultivated fruit was brot to this market from Oregon, by Messrs. Meek & Luelling, in 1853. They brought about four bushels, or about 200 pounds, from the sale of which they realized $500. In 185 the same parties brought to this market, as near as we can learn, about forty bushels, which they contracted on arrival, to George Hughes, at $1 25 per lb, but on delivering, they were found to be damaged by heat in the steamer, and the sale was settled at 87½ cents per pound, realizing about $2,500.

In 1855, the receipts from Oregon amounted probably to some 1,500 boxes, prices ranging from 50 cents to $1 per pound. In 1856, the receipts amounted to several thousand boxes, sales ranging from 25 to 75 cents per pound.

In 1857, the receipts we should judge, could not be less than 15,000 boxes, sales ranging from 15 to 50 cents.

In 1858, the receipts amounted to 29,190 boxes, sales ranged from 7 to 35 cent.

In 1859, the receipts amounted to a little over 72,000. Sales ranged from 3 to 25 cents. In 1860, the receipts amounted to about 86,000 boxes, sales ranging from 3 to 19 cents.

Of the crops of 1861, the receipts are as follows:

Received	Boxes	Sales.	Average
August	539	.	3c	ꝑ lb
September	2 353	.	4c	"
October	3,300		4½c	"
November	14,313	3@7½c.	5c.	"
December	21,684	2@6c	4c.	"
January	3,891	2@4c.	3c.	"
February	15,425	2@3c	2½c	"
March	9,131	2@11½c.	6c	"
April	4,447	2@8c	5c	"
May	334	4@10.	8c	"
June	160	6@12c.	10c	"
Total	75 394

The above table exhibits the amount of Oregon fruit received and sold in this city during the past season, and the range of prices obtained each month. Very little of the early fruit was shipped here, the market being so well supplied with peaches, grapes, and other varieties that prices would not warrant the sending of early apples to this market from Oregon.

Late fall and early winter fruit found ready sale at paying prices, the market being more steady and uniform than any preceding season. During the winter, prices ruled much lower than any former season, although the supply was not near as large as that of the winter of 1860 and 1861.

The rains and floods of this State caused an almost total suspension of business and trade with the interior towns of the State, so that there was very little outlet for fruit beyond what was consumed in the city. Again, much of that received in January and February was out of season—varieties that should have been in market six or eight weeks earlier, it having been detained by floods and the closing of the Columbia River by ice.

Hence much of it had been frosted, and arrived in a damaged and often nearly worthless condition.

These causes combined have rendered prices less remunerative to producers and dealers than any former year.

The total receipts from Oregon have been about eleven thousand boxes less than of the crop of 1860, and only three thousand boxes more than 1859, while the range of prices has very materially diminished each succeeding year. This is explained by the large and annually increasing fruit crop of California, which will soon be sufficient to supply the wants of this market.

Even the past year peaches were so abundant as to pay only a small profit to the producer above the expenses of gathering and transportation to market; and large orchards just coming into bearing indicate a plentiful supply of every variety, in a few years. We have taken much pains to ascertain the amount of California fruit sold in this market, of the crop of 1861, with the following result:

		Average
Apples	57,735 boxes	50 lbs per box
Apricots	2,178 baskets	30 " basket
Cherries	1,790 boxes	20 " box
Figs	438 boxes	30 " box
Grapes	30,730 boxes	50 " box
Nectarines	1,255 baskets	30 " basket
Peaches	130,303 baskets	30 " basket
Pears	17,800 boxes	60 " box
Plums	6,781 boxes	25 " box
Quinces	250 boxes	50 " box

Besides these, a large amount of strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, gooseberries, and currants, of which we have made no estimate.

In compiling the above table we are much indebted to the different Commission Fruit Dealers, most of whom have kindly given us the amount which has passed through their hands. The amount as given above is somewhat short of the actual receipts, as several declined to give any figures, and a considerable amount was sold on the wharves by the owners, of which which we have been unable to get any account.

We have made no estimate of the amount of sales in dollars and cents, but probably it would exceed half a million of dollars, and the great bulk of the fruit has been consumed in this city. The interior towns had a supply of their own raising until into October. During the Winter the demand for fruit from the interior was very limited on account of rains and floods which prevented almost entirely the transportation of any kind of goods to the inland towns.

Respectfully yours,

KNAPP, BURRELL & Co.

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a stitch alike on both sides of the material and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine and from thick to thin with rapidity and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity, and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather, and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel feed, as others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order, neither should it require a screw driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to soil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side nor ravel.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco

Of all diseases the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages for [illegible] sense—Self Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, [illegible] Ulcers, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs, such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness and free from mercury. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted [illegible] may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, [illegible] and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. [illegible] night followed by involuntary discharges, have all stopped, and in fact in two months after having [illegible] the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience that he will under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 186

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the lot of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well except that I have not got my strength yet, but soon will with the [illegible]. It is just [illegible] weeks you may recollect, since I [illegible] your institute, with my constitution, as I [illegible] entirely and never thought you would be able to [illegible] perfectly, but thought you might be able to do [illegible] to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my [illegible] so that I would not get excited and [illegible] everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and [illegible] from my skin and the ulcers from my throat and the entire stopping of the emissions which you said were [illegible] the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest [illegible] or my surprise, for except [illegible] my strength I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your [illegible] and think myself really cured. If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspaper. Believe me gratefully yours,

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to [illegible]

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves commendation not only as an act of scientific skill but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of [illegible], which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the [illegible] which I met with on attempting it, soon became such I was then led to believe, as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although insensible to the agonies, I yet [illegible] the [illegible] of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as [illegible] who sought to prolong the existence of my [illegible]. While in this state, and having previous to my affliction tasted the sweetness of life, I once more was induced to [illegible] seek [illegible] a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances [illegible] for his services [illegible] which I [illegible] undertook my case, and with the [illegible] God I was once more restored to perfect health. [illegible] the boon which I enjoy at present [illegible] my indebtedness, I [illegible] make the case public [illegible] that those in need of [illegible] medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
